Case continued until | Mist ever ran," said Captain La Blond, the spray dripping from his beard, as the boat met the foam a hundred yards or so above Terrapin Rock. On the distant banks many carriages were seen William Henry Price and Jackson to have stopped. There were people, tle gave three toots of exultation. The engineer looked at his steam-gauge. It registered eighty-five pounds, the wheel was pounding in the water, and the boat was just holding her own against the currents which boiled around her. The man at the wheel wiped the water from his eyes and rang the bell "Go ahead." The Maid went up into the caldron. A crest of water, more the spent force of a "boiler" than a wave, fell over the bow, and there was a retreat amidships. The boat crept on.
